

A Practice for Everyday Life

ACCOUNT/PROJECT MANAGER

London, Full Time, Salary dependent on experience

A Practice for Everyday Life is recognised as one of the leading design agencies specialising in design for the arts and exhibitions, and is now expanding into new sectors.

The Account Manager will join our ambitious and creative agency, and will be part of a growing management team taking responsibility for client liaison and the delivery of major projects.

We want a committed and organised person who is happy to get on and do a great job. Proven expertise in account handling complex, creatively led, multidisciplinary projects is essential, as is an enthusiastic and highly professional manner combined with an absolute commitment to delivering within deadlines and budgets. Involved in the planning and conception of projects, as well as managing their delivery, you will work at the forefront of the agency in a hands-on role dealing directly with clients and acting as an ambassador for the team.

As a small, fast growing agency, APFEL offers exceptional opportunities to take on roles and responsibilities, which may, in due course, lead to a directorship and equity in the business.

To apply, please send your cover letter, CV and any other relevant supporting material to Kirsty Carter, r@apracticeforeverydaylife.com
